

Voyaging

My son's gift, a crayon study of his small boat sailing at the sea, at the sky all blood-

orange, bristling glow that draws my breathing out as wind and water shoulder him past all

anchored craft, leaving me each moment farther from his sight, a blurring wave inside

the swarming light.